

Intent

At Kingsley, we not only provide full coverage of the new Relationships Education and Health Education, but also a wider Personal, Social, Health and Economic education, which includes Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural development and British Values, to name but a few. We hope in doing so, we will promote positive mental health, wellbeing and resilience, enabling our pupils to thrive in our increasingly complex world.

Implementation

In order to achieve this, our curriculum is broken into 6 key themes which each year group will follow. Consequently, each half-term, teachers will deliver 5 - 6 lessons which link to the key theme (approx. 1 lesson a week). The key themes are as follows:

AUTUMN 1	AUTUMN 2	SPRING 1	SPRING 2	SUMMER 1	SUMMER 2
Me & My Relationships	Valuing Difference	Keeping Myself Safe	Rights & Responsibilities	Being My Best	Growing & Changing

To enrich the 'Valuing Difference' theme further, as that is an area that we are very passionate about at Kingsley, teachers will also provide a 'No Outsiders' education. This is taught in the following ways:

- First and foremost, it's embedded throughout the school via a whole-school ethos. Our teachers will embrace and celebrate difference and diversity within their classrooms on a daily basis. This is done via discussions, books, displays, resources and assemblies.
- 3 5 'No Outsiders' lessons will be taught over subsequent days at the start of every half-term. The lessons will all stem from an age appropriate 'No Outsiders' book, which focus on the 7 protected characteristics of the Equality Act (race, religion, gender identity, age, disabilities, sexual orientation and gender). We hope that by teaching via this text-based approach, we will not only be celebrating diversity with our pupils, but also taking steps to prevent discrimination (including homophobic bullying) within our school. The themes covered in our 'No Outsiders' lessons are as follows:

Impact

At Kingsley, in EYFS and KS1 the class teacher will record their sessions and document children's responses in one large class book. Moreover, in KS2, children will be all be given individual journal style workbooks to document their understanding of the various Relationship and Health Education topics. Consequently, class teachers will be able to assess if progress has been made in the subject through 'book-looks' and formative assessment techniques such as appropriate guestioning and discussion.

By the end of primary school, pupils should know about these five key areas:

Families & people who care for me

• that families are important for children growing up because they can give love, security and stability.

• the characteristics of healthy family life, commitment to each other, including in times of difficulty, protection and care for children and other family members, the importance of spending time together and sharing each other's lives.

• that others' families, either in school or in the wider world, sometimes look different from their family, but that they should respect those differences and know that other children's families are also characterised by love and care.

• that stable, caring relationships, which may be of different types, are at the heart of happy families, and are important for children's security as they grow up.

• that marriage represents a formal and legally recognised commitment of two people to each other which is intended to be lifelong.

• how to recognise if family relationships are making them feel unhappy or unsafe, and how to seek help or advice from others if needed.

Caring friendships

• how important friendships are in making us feel happy and secure, and how people choose and make friends.

• the characteristics of friendships, including mutual respect, truthfulness, trustworthiness, loyalty, kindness, generosity, trust, sharing interests and experiences and support with problems and difficulties.

• that healthy friendships are positive and welcoming towards others, and do not make others feel lonely or excluded.

• that most friendships have ups and downs, and that these can often be worked through so that the friendship is repaired or even strengthened, and that resorting to violence is never right.

• how to recognise who to trust and who not to trust, how to judge when a friendship is making them feel unhappy or uncomfortable, managing conflict, how to manage these situations and how to seek help or advice from others, if needed.

Respectful relationships:

• the importance of respecting others, even when they are very different from them (for example, physically, in character, personality or backgrounds), or make different choices or have different preferences or beliefs.

• practical steps they can take in a range of different contexts to improve or support respectful relationships.

 $\boldsymbol{\cdot}$  the conventions of courtesy and manners.

 $\cdot$  the importance of self-respect and how this links to their own happiness.

• that in school and in wider society they can expect to be treated with respect by others, and that in turn they should show due respect to others, including those in positions of authority.

• about different types of bullying (including cyberbullying), the impact of bullying, responsibilities of bystanders (primarily reporting bullying to an adult) and how to get help.

 $\boldsymbol{\cdot}$  what a stereotype is, and how stereotypes can be unfair, negative or destructive.

 $\cdot$  the importance of permission-seeking and giving in relationships with friends, peers and adults.

Online relationships:

• that people sometimes behave differently online, including by pretending to be someone they are not.

• that the same principles apply to online relationships as to face-to- face relationships, including the importance of respect for others online including when we are anonymous.

• the rules and principles for keeping safe online, how to recognise risks, harmful content and contact, and how to report them.

• how to critically consider their online friendships and sources of information including awareness of the risks associated with people they have never met.

 $\boldsymbol{\cdot}$  how information and data is shared and used online.

Being safe:

 $\cdot$  what sorts of boundaries are appropriate in friendships with peers and others (including in a digital context).

• about the concept of privacy and the implications of it for both children and adults; including that it is not always right to keep secrets if they relate to being safe.

- that each person's body belongs to them, and the differences between appropriate and inappropriate or unsafe physical, and other, contact.
- how to respond safely and appropriately to adults they may encounter (in all contexts, including online) whom they do not know.
- how to recognise and report feelings of being unsafe or feeling bad about any adult.
- $\boldsymbol{\cdot}$  how to ask for advice or help for themselves or others, and to keep trying until they are heard.
- $\boldsymbol{\cdot}$  how to report concerns or abuse, and the vocabulary and confidence needed to do so.
- $\boldsymbol{\cdot}$  where to get advice e.g. family, school and/or other sources.
